

A Word from Pastor Anne

As we round the corner from 2019 into 2020, I'm so grateful to you, Calvary, for saying "I'm IN!" with your IN-vestment and IN-vestment in our mission and ministry. The 83 increased rather to seek health and wholeness of body, mind, and soul; and volunteering at Calvary's booth during PRIDEfest which reminds me that my humanity is directly tied to how I value other people's humanity.

pledges and 10 new pledges that we received over the last several weeks are IN-spiring to me. *

While we are still short of our budget goal for 2020, I trust that with the gifts that have been and will be given  we will be able to say "yes" to much of what God is IN-viting us to do and to become in 2020. The opportunities for us grow each year and the impact we have on our community has a wider reach each day. Nothing brings me more joy as a pastor than when we take risks together for the sake of the gospel in our world..

As we celebrate the birth of Christ this Christmas, I am full of joy and gratitude for YOU and for the people and things at Calvary that help me remember that Christ is a bright Light shining Love and Hope into our world. In 2019, for me those were:

- Spiritual practices and programs that IN-vite me to remember that I am beloved and worthy just as I am - such as small groups like ROOTED and Tuesday Prayer & Study Group that validate my 'being' and not my 'doing'; services like Healing & Wholeness that help me know that the God I worship is not a God who wants me to produce more, but

- The beauty and grandeur of our sacred worship spaces that IN-spire me to remember that God is God and I am not - such as the melodies and harmonies of music, the creativity of art, the community of worship, the power of prayer, the gifts of grace in communion, the bread and the cup.

- Ministries that IN-volve me in the work of God's kingdom in the world - like reading at Stedman Elementary with 3rd graders; building relationships and advocating for racial justice with New Hope Baptist; and listening to someone in need who walks through our doors and needs help with a bus pass and some food.

- Opportunities such as our fall stewardship campaign and the Hymnal Dedications and the Warming Ways of Winter Family Promise Auction and the Youth Hymn Sing Fund-raiser and The Giving Tree, all of which give Damon and me the chance to IN-vest in the work of God so that we can put our money where our mouth is - which allows us to grow spiritually as we focus first on the work of God in the world through Calvary, and secondarily on providing for our own needs (those always seem to get taken care of!)

Nothing else that I do helps me realize that "God is God and I am not" more than giving my money to the work of God. It takes my good intentions and actually turns them into real, tangible impact - far beyond what I could ever do on my own. And Calvary is the place that allows me to do that in a

Worship & Music

Dr. David Farwig

2019 has been a busy year for music at Calvary, culminating with our annual Christmas Concert, which took place on Sunday, December 8. With almost forty singers, Denise Lanning at the piano, and a chamber orchestra – including a whole percussion battery – our Calvary and guest musicians created a lovely evening of music and spoken word, led by Pastor Anne Scalfaro and Evan Hicks. It was lovely to see many folks in the audience, including many guests from the neighborhood! This year we presented a contemporary cantata called On This Shining Night, composed by Lee and Susan Dengler. As a music director, I am not always drawn to many of the new Christmas cantatas, but this one spoke to me on many levels. It not only contained familiar tunes, but they were arranged in clever and beautiful ways. Moreover, the narration was lively and steeped in scripture, which I really appreciated.

To wrap up Advent and Christmas, the Calvary Choir will reprise the rocking little gospel anthem, “There Is a Light” at our Christmas Eve family service at 4 pm. Edith Rowell and Charlotte Million will also play four-hand gathering music for this service. And, if you are able, please plan to attend the 11 p.m. candlelight Christmas Eve service, which will feature our musicians from The Gathering as well as guest youth percussionist, Michael Jonell, playing the marimba. It should be a beautiful and worship-filled time together.

A Note to Calvary

"Beloved Calvary members, I want to send you all my gratitude for all of the ways in which you were a part of my ordination. From the encouragement along the way to the laying on of hands at the service, I can say that I could not have done it without your support, prayers, and witness. I thank you for the ways in which you embodied the “great cloud of witnesses” and helped me to throw off “everything that hindered” so that I could find my story and calling in this community. I will not soon forget the grace shown me or the joy of getting to share that day with so many of you. My sincerest thanks. Joy and peace to you all.

Sabbath Curriculum

by Rev. Morgan C. Fletcher, Pastor

Sabbath can be an abstract concept to think about. For some, the closest practice of sabbath we get to is vacation. And while sabbath is not vacation it may be a helpful connection to what helps us rest, to be in a space of breath from work, daily/weekly tasks, and the hustle of schedules. If sabbath is a concept you speak of only at church or perhaps even try to practice from time to time but have not found a regular engagement with a practice this study is for you.

Pastors Anne and Morgan have designed this study to meet you wherever you are in your experience of a sabbath practice and hope that this study can help all of us explore how sabbath can help us examine and discern our communal and individual practices of sabbath. This study can be done on your own, with family, in a small group, or in your church school class. We invite all of you at Calvary to join us in the study during the weeks of January 13-March 2.

Following the study sessions we invite you to join us for our Lenten Suppers: March 11, 18, 25, and April 1, where we will explore what keeps us from being able to live out or live into a sabbath practice. As we explore these barriers or conflicts to sabbath practices we will also see how we as a community can support each other in moving through these barriers to a place that is more free to live out these practices.

We will then explore in our committees, GPS groups, ministry teams, church school classes, at large church events how we can implement sabbath practices together. Supporting both our individual and communal practices of this core biblical teaching. We will celebrate this collective process with a church-wide meal in May (exact date to be determined).

Middle Adult Ministry?

by Reverend Mary Hulst, Pastor Emerita & Pastoral Associate

A US NEWS AND WORLD REPORT magazine from some years back questioned the wisdom of the usual labels used to define aging Americans. Given the increased good health and vitality of folks over 55 years of age, it was determined that it is not captivating, encouraging or motivating to refer to the 55 year old plus demographic as SENIORS. In fact the article calls adults 50 to 70 years of age middle adults. Americans over 50 are living healthier, more active, more productive and longer lives. A person 50 or 60 can expect to live 30 plus more years.

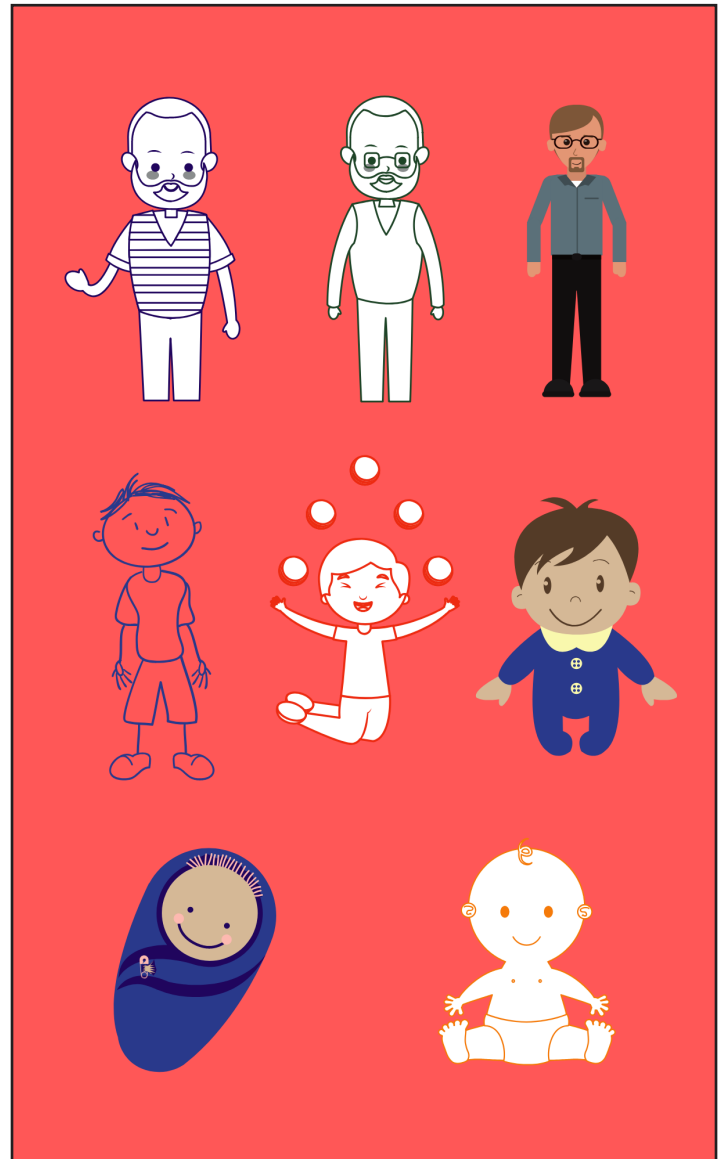

This changing demographic landscape has abundant implications for the church. There is a great deal of wisdom, financial security, discretionary time and experience within the population that is newly and actively retired. Ministry opportunities await.

Calvary has a treasure trove of Middle Adults or whatever label you choose to use, who are actively engaged in this community of faith and who are deeply committed to opportunities for growth, fellowship and service. There are Church School classes, Bible Studies, GPS Groups, Choir, volunteer possibilities of Bootstraps and Blessings and Family Promise - or Church School Teaching, Youth Group Advising - all of which cross many age groupings. In many ways the traditional approach to Senior Ministries in church life has dramatically changed. There are still, however, needs not yet explored or met.

As we age we are motivated by five values:

- 1) Autonomy - the desire to be or remain self-sufficient and well.
- 2) Social and spiritual connectedness - we respond more to people than programs.
- 3) Service - A desire to give something back to community and world.
- 4) Growth - A desire to continue to grow and learn.
- 5) Vital Living - Activities that bring fresh and new experiences and perspectives.

The purpose of this article is to spark your imagination (if you are a middle adult or older) to give thought to added opportunities to meet the above five values in our life together here at Calvary. Watch for a gathering opportunity in January for strategic brain storming for Calvary's many Middle and Middle Plus Adults.

Lent at Calvary: A Journey of Sabbath Moments

Creating intentionality around keeping sabbath is an essential component of our life of faith, and yet, for so many of us – it is the last thing we give attention to because we’re so busy or we think it won’t fit into our way of life. Through our church-wide curriculum, we will study the biblical and theological roots of Sabbath in January and February. We will continue the journey of sabbath discernment this Lent by exploring what sabbath means for our individual lives and for our life together as a community of faith. For most of us sabbath may not come in large blocked off periods of time and/or in taking a whole day off at a time to rest or renew. Rather, sabbath might just be about finding moments – moments where we can just be, breathe, re-center, and re-focus. These sabbath moments are about reminding ourselves that we are beloved children of God just as we are, and they’re about releasing the responsibility of “producing and earning” and/or responding to the needs and desires of others. And over time, all these sabbath moments can and will create meaningful change in our lives.

Connect

Sabbath Suppers: Through conversations and rituals, our Wednesday evening Sabbath Suppers will allow us to explore topics together such as “How do our Sundays at Calvary fit into sabbath” / “Individually and collectively, what barriers do we experience around practicing sabbath?” / “What does practicing sabbath look like for committees, small groups, and social groups at Calvary?” / “Is keeping sabbath even possible in this day and age? Why or why not?” As we explore these barriers and/or challenges to sabbath practices, we will see how we as a community can support each other in moving through these barriers to a place that is more freeing as we seek to make practicing Sabbath a reality in our lives.

- Weds. Mar. 11, 18, 25 & April 1 – 6:30 - 8:00 p.m. – Sabbath Suppers (Fellowship Hall)

Sabbath Moment Morning Retreat: Join us for a time of prayer, singing, labyrinth walking, prayer stations, and meditation as we spend time in community and in God’s creation, which can be a healing and renewing sabbath practice.

- Sat. Mar. 14 – 9:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. – Sabbath Moment Morning Retreat – The Sanctuary Center, Castle Rock

Sabbath Celebration: On Easter morning, we will engage in the sabbath practice of celebration and fun at an all-church reception as we prepare to worship the Risen Christ. Easter Reception with Food, Crafts, & Egg Hunt – 9:00 a.m. (Fellowship Hall)

With each of these devotions we hope you are able to take a moment to breathe as you connect with God, self, and others. Email Pastor Alice (ahornernelson@calvarydenver.org) to subscribe.

Calvary Ministry Stories: What is Kentucky Circle Village?

by Pat Hagen

My latest assignment from Pastor Alice was to visit Kentucky Circle Village, one of Calvary's longtime mission partners. Called a "unique housing experiment for the independent aging" when it was conceived in the late 1950's, Kentucky Circle Village will celebrate 60 years of serving Denver seniors since it opened in 1959. Rents were $30 per month for a dormitory room, $42.50 for an efficiency apartment, $62.50 for a one bedroom apartment, and $75 for a two bedroom apartment.

Envisioned in 1951 by Raymond Waser, a pastor at First Plymouth Church, Kentucky Circle Village, or KCV, was to be a home for elderly people who were able to care for themselves but did not wish to live alone. And at that time as now, being able to live independently relied solely upon retirement savings and social security. The mission remains to provide affordable independent living to seniors in a community of caring and fellowship.

Three downtown churches came together to build the Village: First Plymouth Congregational Church, First Baptist church (Calvary Baptist now) and United Presbyterian Church (which became Green Mountain Presbyterian). The whole concept was controversial when first introduced resulting in editorials, delays in approval, and neighborhood concerns but it was finally approved. The original value of the land was $778 in 1958 when the permits were issued. The land is now worth more than $8 million.

Since then, the three churches have formed a non-profit called Senior Homes of Colorado Foundation. In 2016, they partnered with Midwest Housing Equity Group (a low income housing tax credit investment group) so the facility could be renovated.

Designed by Modernist architect Eugene Sternberg, KCV was innovative in its design, retaining the natural grade and orientation for encouraging community yet preserving privacy and nature. Even the streets are curved which reduces traffic speed and the buildings' eaves jut out giving the illusion of more space.

Consisting of 29 buildings on 8.5 acres, KCV has 172 total apartments and is 98% occupied. There is currently a waiting list of 193 seniors. Rent now starts at $425 for a studio with $875 at the high end for a two bedroom apartment. That cost covers electricity, natural gas, water, sewer and trash collection. Amenities include laundry rooms, an on-site beauty salon, reserved parking, a computer room and noontime meal service available Sunday through Thursday. There are also daily activities which include sing-alongs, educational presentations, themed parties, games, movies and more.

To live at KVC, one must be 62 years or older, making less than $37,801 per year ($43,200 per couple), complete an income certification annually and agree to an annual apartment inspection.

Calvary Baptist Church has remained committed to the concept with Bruce Whitaker currently serving as President of the Board of Directors after Gary Diffendaffer and Walter Rowell both served as Presidents in the past. Jim Comstock has just joined the Board and Caroline Weese, a former Calvary member, served on the Board for years.

According to Julie Hoebel, the Executive Director, the biggest challenge now is how to help residents age in place. One recent addition to help meet that goal was the hiring of a Care Manager, a Licensed Social Worker, whose first year salary was funded by First Plymouth. She is there to help ensure the residents live fuller safer lives while aging in place. Another need area is volunteers who could be part of the Emergency Team who would respond to the Village's needs when there is a power outage, storm, or other catastrophe. KCV also needs drivers and special small project helpers.

As I was getting ready to leave KCV, I looked through their original scrapbook which depicted the process to get the Village built and later the finished project. In the 1960's, residents were photographed in groups according to their home state and of the 176 living there, 23 were born abroad and immigrated to Colorado. KCV was and is indeed a great experiment that has truly succeeded in its mission.

myriad of ways. As we've seen time and time again with the Israelite people in the Narrative Lectionary this fall, God is "All IN!" with us, even when we fall short of being "All IN!" with God. The heart of the good news is this: God always shows up. God is always with us. God never gives up on us. No matter who we are or where we are on life's journey. I love that about God. And I love that our church embraces whoever joins us to take the journey together.

Remember the story of Elijah and the prophets of Baal that we studied this fall? "Who, indeed, is God?" (1 Kings 18:39) the people ask? The One True God is not an idol because an idol can't be in relationship with us. The One True God is a living, breathing person - Jesus Christ, the giver of life and the giver of the gifts of forgiveness and grace, the One who unites us as a communion of saints - past, present, and future. The One True God is the One who releases us from bondage: who leads us, frees us, saves us, delivers us - the God who brings us Life. The One who is the Word Made Flesh, the Light of the World, Emmanuel - God with us.

Just like the people on Mount Carmel that day in 1 Kings 18, yes, there will be times where we are dismissive of God because of our pride and ego and yes, there will be times when we are distracted from God by competing priorities. But in the end, like the faithful saints who have gone before us that have built and sustained the church we enjoy today, will we remain faithful and loyal and to the God who has given so much to us?

Advent is a season of beginnings, and on Christmas morning the birth of the Christ child is the ultimate sign that God is "ALL IN!" with us!

So, with that good news in mind, I'm "ALL IN!" all over again for 2020...are you?

Children's Corner

Bible Stories we have focused on this Fall:

Angela Leonard,
Children's Ministry
Coordinator
aleonard@
calvarydenver.org

Isaac and Sarah: They had to wait a very, VERY long time to get what they wanted. This Bible story is about patience, and allowing God to decide when the time is right for certain things in our lives. The class played "wait and go" (red light, green light), and made baby Isaac cupcakes for a snack.

Jacob Wrestles God: A tough story. A struggling man who was put in his place by God to figure things in his life out and finally began thinking of everything he was blessed with. The kids played "Jacob BINGO" and made an acrostic of their blessings.

Moses and God's name, The Burning Bush: God got Moses' attention with the burning bush. God helped Moses to deliver a message. God is always here speaking to us, we need to listen. The children made a burning bush snack out of cheese, grapes, and pretzels. They made paintings of the burning bush.

Hear O Israel: The children learned about the Ten Commandments, even tried guessing them through Charades. They decorated bookmarks of the Ten Commandments to keep in their Bibles.

Ruth: God was faithful to Ruth and Naomi, and was with them when they didn't even know it, just like God is always with us. The kids made "bundles of grain" snacks with pretzel sticks and twizzlers. They had to find missing words from the scripture around the room to see if they were paying attention to the story.

David Anointed King: The big focus was the ark of the covenant. He brought the Ark of the Covenant to Jerusalem. They made an ark using rice krispies, pretzel sticks and candy corn to eat. They also played a game of bringing a cotton ball across the room on a paper plate, on their heads, or while spinning to see how hard it could have been to deliver the Ark.

James and John ask a favor of Jesus: This lesson taught the children what it takes to be a servant of the Lord. They served each other snacks and laid down to listen to music.

Elijah at Mount Carmel: People were believing in the wrong God. It was up to Elijah to show who those people that our God is the only God, and helped them to believe. They created the scene of Elijah at the mount out of craft supplies.

The Little Children and Jesus: Jesus showed the disciples and children that he always has time for them. We can always trust in him, for he is forever in our hearts. Each child had their height tagged on the wall to let them know that God will always love them no matter how tall they are. They ate fruit kabobs, and decorated cardboard hearts.

Isaiah's Vineyard Song: God's Peace and Love is with us, even when it is hard to see. The class made grapes out of paper and created a vineyard along the wall with finger paint.

Josiah's Reform: God is pleased when a person hears God's word and responds with a humble and obedient heart. They played "following God's Path" and created scrolls out of pretzel rods and fruit roll-ups.

Advent: They discussed the meaning of Advent. The candles, symbols in the Sanctuary, creating their own Advent wreaths out of construction paper. They went over the Story of Christmas, the birth of Jesus and created stained glass silhouettes.

A Note About My Parental Leave

Calvary's parental leave policy is six-weeks at home with the child and no work responsibilities, followed by six weeks where the parent works from home during the week and at Calvary for one worship service or large event a week. This will be my plan for when our kiddo arrives. Coverage for the six weeks where I'm completely away from work will come primarily from volunteers already connected to the ministry areas in need, with staff supporting as backups. Many thanks to the volunteers and staff who are helping me cover my roles while I will be home with our kiddo during those first six weeks. And thank you to the congregation for your support during this time of leave!

David & Joyce Reed Are Visiting Calvary on Sunday, January 12th, giving a presentation during the Church School Hour!

David and Joyce Reed serve as IM's Global Coordinators for Spiritual Care, facilitating IM's implementation of goals for personnel care outlined in IM's strategic plan Responding to the Call. Building on 20 years of ministry as global servants in Mexico and service as Regional Consultants in Iberoamerica and the Caribbean, they seek to cultivate a culture of health in which IM personnel around the globe, as well as in the home office in King of Prussia, PA, can thrive and be effective in ministry. As spiritual caregivers, they offer spiritual guidance, support and presence; provide workshops and retreats on self-care, soul care, and community care practices; research and find resources to support spiritual growth and health; walk with colleagues through significant times of transition, transformation, grief and loss; and mentor global servants during their first years on the field.

Generosity Abounds – Bequest Received from the Estate of Claire Elizabeth (Bettie) Loughhead

Early in 2019 we received notification from the attorney for Claire Elizabeth (Bettie) Loughhead's estate that she had provided for Calvary in her planned giving. In November we received Bettie Loughhead's bequest of $12,254.65 to be used for "ministry program enrichment" for ministries and/or programs that are not regularly included in our operating budget. We look forward to how this generous gift will enrich and enhance our life together at Calvary in the future and will keep you informed of how the funds are utilized.

Bettie was the daughter of an American Baptist minister (R. Claibourne Johnson), the daughter-in-law of an American Baptist minister, (Harold C. Loughhead), wife of an American Baptist minister, (LaRue Loughhead), and the mother of a minister (Beth C. Loughhead).

Bettie and Larry led three churches during a life of devoted service, including 23 years at Calvary where Larry served as senior pastor for 23 years until his retirement in 1992. Bettie was devoted to caring for God's people, to putting her faith into practice by serving others. She went on countless missions trips and volunteered tirelessly at the churches and in the communities where she and Larry served. Her significant ministry at Calvary included the founding of ElderCare, day care for the frail elderly and respite for their family care givers.

We are grateful to both Bettie and Larry Loughhead for including Calvary in their estate. How blessed we are that their final giving reflects their living!

Bequests are a wonderful way to extend your generosity and ensure Calvary's future!

Birthday Fun!
